The Columbian.

VOL 26. BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1891. NO. 20

J. G. Wells' store room has been newly papered, by which it is very much improved.

The last meeting of the present school board will be held Friday May 22. The new board will meet for organization Monday June 1st.

J. L. Moyer is making rapid progress in repairing his residence on Market street. It will be a fine residence when completed.

We have received the annual report of the Chinanfoo Dispensary for 1890, in charge of the American Presbyterian Mission in China. Dr. James B. Neal is the physician in charge.

Several Philadelphia banks have closed their doors, and are in bad financial shape. It appears to arise more from mismanagement than from a stringency in the money market.

At a meeting of the Vestry of St. Paul's church on Tuesday evening, E. R. Drinker and Geo. E. Elwell were elected lay deputies to the Diocesan Convention which meets at Wilkes-Barre the second week in June.

Twenty-three tickets were sold from this place to Pottsville on Tuesday. There were about 20,000 visitors in Pottsville, and 2500 Knights of the Golden Eagle took part in the parade. Twenty bands were in the line.

J. H. Brugler of Danville is preparing plans for remodeling the residence of L. Gross on North Main street. Mr. Brugler is an architect of high reputation, and there are many samples of his work in Bloomsburg.

The case of H. M. Sutherland of Hazleton, charged with sending obscene matter through the mail, came up at Pittsburg last week, and was continued on account of the defendant's illness. It will be tried at Scranton.

Dr. T. C. Harter was honored by being elected as Division Surgeon at the State Encampment of Sons of Veterans held at Dubois, Pa. May 6th 1891. There is no question but what the Doctor is well qualified for the office.

The Grand Castle K. G. E. met at Pottsville Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Excursion tickets were issued on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad. About fifteen or twenty members of the order of Bloomsburg took advantage of the excursion.

A passenger train was run over the Bloomsburg Division of the D. L. & W. R. R., recently, from Scranton to Pittston, at the rate of a mile a minute, covering the distance of nine miles in nine minutes. It had on board some of the officials of the road who usually like fast time.

The young man charged with obtaining a registered letter from the postmaster of Elk Grove, by false representations, plead guilty in the U. S. court at Pittsburg last week, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment. J. M. Dewitt, J. W. Perry and a number of others from that section went to Pittsburg as witnesses.

The Wilkesbarre Record says that the heavy grade on the Harvey's Lake branch of the Valley Road has often been remarked about. It is probably as steep as any stretch of ordinary railroad in the State. Bennet's to Dallas the average grade is 125 feet to the mile while the steepest grade on the mountain toward White Haven is 90 feet to the mile. Near the Ice Cave Hotel on the Harvey's Lake branch the ascent is 180 feet to the mile for a short distance.

Charles Evans, Charles and Harry Keller were out gunning on the hills above the Iron Company's dam last Saturday, and came across a large gray owl and five young ones. The mother owl was killed, and the five young ones captured alive. Two of the young ones are in the possession of Charles Evans and the other three the Keller boys. The boys say they saw the crows kill the other old owl. This will no doubt exterminate this species as they are the only ones known to be in this section.

William Krickbaum started for Harrisburg last Monday, after having been at home for two weeks on account of illness. R. H. Boody invited him to ride to Rupert in his buggy and there take the D. L. & W. train. As they were passing Mrs. Gross' a dog ran out and frightened the horse, which shied suddenly and upset the buggy. Mr. Krickbaum was thrown on his shoulder and hip, and was considerably bruised. He was brought up home and has since been confined to the house.

WALLER.

Miss Ella McHenry, of the Normal School and Miss Bertha Hirleman came up on Saturday to visit their parents and friends at this place.

William Butt, whose serious illness we noted some time ago is again able to be around and looks as good as well.

Benjamin Englehart our enterprising blacksmith, is kept busy these days in fixing up his lot and doing the shop work. The music of the anvil is often heard long after the sun has gone to rest.

The corn around here was nearly all planted last week; but some of the time it was necessary to wear mittens and on Wednesday morning the snow was so deep that it was only possible to plant part of the day.

The apple trees are now in full bloom and from present indications a good crop is expected. Cherries and peaches have already frozen in some places; but on the hills some of them have escaped thus far.

Some from this place have been attending the protracted meeting which is being held in the Christian church at Benton. There are some baptised nearly every day and the meetings seem to be a success.

A large number of the young men from this section started for the back woods this week. Some of them are going up in Potter county, but most of them work in Sullivan.

Gearhart Hess met with a serious accident last week. While cutting logs in company with Emanuel Snyder, Mr. Snyder's ax flew and struck him in the leg cutting it badly.

ELLIS YOUNG RELEASED.

Mr. Ellis Young who was recently taken to Wilkes-Barre charged with the murder of Lieutenant Robison about twenty seven years ago, was released on $10,000 bail on Monday. His bondsmen are Rhor McHenry, A. J. Derr, and Robert S. Oman of Columbia county, and Myron Britain and Alfred McHenry of Luzerne county. Mr. Young had secured the bondsmen from Columbia county and expected his release Saturday last, but he was notified that he must have bondsmen from Luzerne County also. The requisite bondsmen were secured in a short time. The date of trial is fixed for Monday June 15th and he must be tried at that time or discharged.

Mr. Young was in Bloomsburg Monday. He thinks if the case is brought to trial he will surely be acquitted.

Normal School Excursion.

The first annual excursion of the Normal School will go up the Bloomsburg & Sullivan Railroad on Saturday, May 16th. A special train will leave Bloomsburg for Central at 8:30 a. m. and return at 5 p. m. The price of tickets is 50 cents, and can be obtained of the Principal. Everybody is invited.

A three weeks old infant of John Girton's was buried on Wednesday.

LUTHERANS IN CONVENTION.

The thirty-fifth biennial convention of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church in the U. S. will be held at Lebanon, Pa., beginning next Wednesday, May 20 and continuing about ten days. It is made up of representatives from 28 district Synods, reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Canada to Mason's and Dixon's line. There will be about 250 delegates present and as many more ministers and layman representatives of the church. The entire work of the church is reviewed and plans laid for the work of the next biennial. There are four general bodies in the Lutheran church of this country, aggregating a membership of more than a million, making the third largest body of protestantism in this country. The following figures will be read with interest by all Christians, and by Lutherans especially at this time. They are compiled by Rev. J. N. Leuker, the statistical man of the Lutheran Church, who has visited nearly every Lutheran land on the globe.

LUTHERANS IN ALL LANGUAGES.

The Lutheran church is a church of many languages. The latest statistics show that of her baptised membership throughout the world, 32,000,000 speak German, 5,300,000 Swedish, 2,500,000 Norwegian, 2,300,000 Danish, 2,048,000 Finnish, 1,250,000 English, 1,113 000 Hungarian, 624,000 Livonian, 480,000 Courlandish, 272,000 Esthonian, 80,000 French, 70,000 Icelandic, 48,000 Bohemian, and that in every other civilized tongue she is well represented. The Lutheran Church, though taking its origin in Germany, knows no fatherland or mother tongue. She is at home everywhere.

LUTHERANS IN THE UNITED STATES.

In the United States, though among the last to come to general public recognition, the Lutheran Church is doing Christian work in twelve different languages, and has 4,692 ministers, 7,948 churches, and 1,111,683 communicant members, twenty-four theological seminaries, twenty-five colleges, forty-eight seminaries and academies, fifty-seven orphan homes and hospitals, and 140 church papers, of which forty-eight are English, fifty-one German, sixteen Swedish, fifteen Norwegian, four Danish, three Finnish, two Icelandic, and two French.

26 LUTHERAN FOREIGN MISSIONARY LOCIETIES.

Stations, 357; foreign workers, 468 ordained, 260 lay; native workers, 144 ordained, 3.246 lay; female workers, 173; baptized members, 188,020; schools, 1,437; scholars, 66,742; native contributions, $25,253.08; income, $881,839.39; fields of work—Africa, India, Sandwich Islands, China. Abyssinia, Polynesia, Greenland, South America.

GROWTH OF ENGLISH LUTHERANS.

The General Synod, the pioneer and strength of English Lutheranism, in 1867 numbered 579 ministers, 944 churches, and 86,933 communicants. At present, 1002 ministers, 1450 congregations, and 157,110 communicants.

LIGHT STREET.

S. A. White, agent for the B. & S. at Jameson City, spent Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gerard, went to New York last week.

James Custer, who has been lying very sick at Wilkes-Barre has so far recovered as to be brought home, but is now in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Case of Numedia, paid their daughter, Mrs. Young, a visit last week.

Our streets were enlivened last week by the appearance of the band. Second turnout this season.

Mrs. Geo. Jacoby has improved her property by way of a new yard fence.

Mr. and Mrs. Young of Jackson, spent Tuesday with their son Silas.

E. D. Hagenbuch's hired hand took a leave on Monday night, E. D. says to stay.

A little girl came to brighten the home of Boyd Henry Tuesday.

Mrs. James Grimes is now on the sick list.

Wm. asks the question, "is there no way to stop the supervisors from building the bridge for the new road." One abutment built, try it on Wm. and see how it will go.

When anyone addresses the genial host of the Exchange Hotel, W. R. Tubbs as "Mr. President," he makes no mistake. Mr. Tubbs is president and director in more corporations than any other man in town. He is always ready to enter into any scheme for the improvement and developement of the town.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

Extensive preparations are being made for the excursion on Saturday the 16th Bread, rolls, and cakes are being prepared by the barrel; boiled ham, whole cases of salmon, and enough lemons and sugar to turn an entire mountain rill into luscious goodness, will be provided.

The base-ball club, the tennis club, the archery club, and the croquet club will each take a complete outfit, while several of the lovers of piscatorial sport will be provided with fly-hooks, with which to capture the speckled beauties.

Notice has been given out from Harrisburg that the appropriation is insufficient this year to pay to students taking state aid, the full sum of 50 cents per week. The students of the Bloomsburg school may congratulate themselves, however, that they belong to a school that allows them 50 cents per week, whether the state does or not.

The fifty dollars, appropriation to graduates, will be paid in full by the state.

The faculty has appointed the following members of the senior class to represent the school and the class on commencement day. Mary Spratt, Margaret Sullivan, Nettie Walter, Sarah Junkin, Ida Wenich, Elizabeth Thorburn, Nora Keen, J. C. Sutliff, Edward Byones and Edward Gormley.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Cole's Creek has been stocked with trout from the government fisheries and people are forbidden according to law, to fish therein.

The following is the law on this subject:

SECTION 3. That no person shall at any time catch, take, kill or have in his or her possession, after the same has been killed, any speckled trout or California mountain trout for sale less than five inches in length; and it shall be unlawful for any person to fish in any stream in this Commonwealth, for a period of three years in which brook trout have been planted by the Fish Commissioners of the State, under a penalty of twenty dollars, as provided for in section thirty-six of the Act of Assembly approved June third, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight: Provided, Public notice has been given of said planting at the time in any newspaper published in the county where said streams are located for a period of three weeks.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Thursday of last week a little son of W. H. Rhawn Esq, of Catawissa, named William Herbert, was scalded by boiling coffee. He attempted to pour some coffee from a coffee pot standing on the stove, and it upset, pouring the contents over his neck and shoulders. Lock jaw resulted and the little boy died on Saturday. and was buried on Monday morning at ten o'clock. His age was four years and five months. Only a few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Rhawn lost a little child by accidental death, its clothing being set fire by matches which it was playing with, and it, too, died of lock jaw. They are having their full measure of affliction, and much sympathy is felt for them by their many friends. A number of attorneys of this town went over to the funeral.

FUN FOR THE CHILDREN.

The children had great sport last Saturday evening, at the Lawn Tennis ground, corner Fourth and Market streets. Messrs. Smith, Hanley and Burnham came here several days ago and put up a Merry-Go-Round, run by steam power. They are the same people who operated it at our county fair last fall. They have a large canvass—a thorough protection for the sun and storm, and have twenty-four springing horses and four coaches. Every evening at seven o'clock the machine is running and hundreds of children gather to have a delightful ride.

A choir of about twenty boys and young men has been organized, which will sing at the evening services in the Episcopal church. They sang for the first time last Sunday evening, and did very well considering that very few of them can read notes and had but three rehearsals.

Two young men of Lycoming county have been committed to Williamsport jail for using profane and obscene language in the presence of ladies. There are about fifty young men and boys in Bloomsburg who ought to be locked up for the same thing. They stand on the corners and use improper language regardless of the fact that ladies are constantly passing.

These gentlemen are practical hotel men of large experience, and they propose to make this elegant hotel one of the most popular mountain resorts in the state. All the furniture in the house has been retained, and there is no resort in this section more complete in all its appointments. The new landlords are sure to become popular, and the hotel will no doubt be filled with summer guests.

THRILLING SCENES IN DIXIE.

HAD a narrer scape from the sonny South. "The swings and arrers of out rajus fortin," alluded to by Hamlick, warn't nothin in comparison to my troubles. I come pesky near swearing some profane oaths more'n onct, but I hope I didn't do it, for I've promist she whose name shall be nameless (except that her initials is Betsy J.) that I'll jine the Meetin House at Baldinsville, jest as soon as I can scrape money enuff together so I can 'ford to be piuss in good stile, like my welthy nabers. But if I'm confisticated agin I'm fraid I shall continner on in my present benited state for sum time.

I figgered conspicyously in many thrillin scenes in my tower from Montgomry to my humsted, and on sevril occasions I thought "the grate komick paper" wouldn't be enriched no more with my lubrications. Arter biddin adoo to Jefferson D. I started for the depot. I saw a nigger sittin on a fence a-playin on a banjo. "My Afrikan Brother," sed I, coting from a Track I onct red, "you belong to a very interestin race. Your masters is goin to war excloosively on your account."

"Yes, boss," he replied, "an' I wish 'em honorable graves," and he went on playin the banjo, larfin all over and openin his mouth wide enuff to drive in an old fashioned 2 wheeled chaise.

The train of cars in which I was to trust my wallerable life was the scaliest, rickytiest lookin lot of consarns that I ever saw on wheels afore. "What time does this string of second hand coffins leave?" I inquired of the depot master. He sed direckly, and I went in & sot down. I hadn't mor'n fairly squatted afore a dark lookin man with a swinister expression onto his countenance entered the cars, and looking very sharp at me, he axed what was my principles?

"Seceshi" I answered. "I'm a Dissoluter. I'm in favor of Jeff Davis, Bowregard, Pickens, Capt. Kidd, Bloobeard, Munro Edards, the devil, Mrs. Cunningham and all the rest of 'em."

"You're in favor of the war?"

"Certingly. By all means. I'm in favor of this war and also of the next war for over sixteen years!"

I've bin in favor of the next war.

"War to the knife!" sed the man.

"Blud, Eargo, Blud!" sed I, tho them words isn't orrigernal with me.

We got under way at larst, an' proceeded on our jerney at about the rate of speed which is ginrally obsarved by properly conducted funeral processions. A hansum yung gal, with a red musketer bar on the back side of her hed, and a sassy little black hat tipt over her forrerd, sot in the seat with me. She wore a little Sesesh flag pin'd onto her hat, and she was a goin for to see her true love, who had jined the Southern army, all so bold and gay. So she told me. She was chilly, and I offered her my blanket.

"Father livin?" I axed.

"Yes sir."

"Got any Uncles?"

"A heap. Uncle Thomas is ded, tho."

"Peace to Uncle Thomas' ashes, and success to him! I will be your Uncle Thomas! Lean on me, my pretty Secesher, and linger in Blissful repose!" She slept as secoorly as in her own housen.

At the first station a troop of Sojers entered the cars and inquired if "Old Wax Works" was on bored. That was the disrespectiv stile in which they referred to me. "Becawz if Old Wax Works is on bored," sez a man with a face like a double brested lobster, "we're going to hang Old Wax Works!"

"My illustrious and patriotic Bummers!" sez I, a gittin up and takin orf my Shappo, "if you allude to A. Ward, it's my pleasin dooty to inform you that he's ded. He saw the error of his ways at 15 minits parst 2 yesterday, and stabbed hisself with a stuffed sled stake, dyin in five beautiful tabloos to slow moosic! His larst words was: 'My perfeshernal career is over! I jerk no more.'"

"And who be you?"

"I am a stoodent in Senator Benjamin's law offss. I'm going up north to steal some spoons and things for the Southern Army."

This was satisfactry and the intossicated troopers went orf. At the next station the pretty little Secesher awoke and said she must get out there. I bid her a kind adoo and give her some pervishuns. "Accept my blessin and this hunk of gingerbread!" I sed. She thankt me muchly and tript galy away.

At the next station I didn't get orf so easy. I was dragged out of the cars and rolled in the mud for several minits, for the purpose of "takin the conseet out of me," as a Seceshер kindly stated.

I was let up finally, when a powerful large Secesher came up and embraced me, and to show that he had no hard feelins agin me put his nose into my mouth. I returned the compliment by placin my stummick suddenly agin his right foot, when he kindly made a spittoon of his able-bodied face. Actooated by a desire to see whether the Secesher had been vaxinated I then fastened my teeth onto his left coat sleeve and tore it to the shoulder.

We then vilently bunted our heads together for a few minits, danced around a little, and sot down in a mud puddle. We riz to our feet agin, and by a sudden and adroit movement I placed my left eye agin the Secesher's fist. We then rushed into each other's arms and fell under a two-hoss wagon. I was very much exhaustid and didn't care about gittin up agin, but the man said he reckoned I'd better, and I conclooded I would. He pulled me up, but I hadn't bin on my feet more'n two seconds afore the ground flew up and hit me in the hed. The crowd sed it was high old sport, but I couldn't zackly see where the lafture come in. I riz and we embraced agin. We careered madly to a steep bank, when I got the upper hands of my antagonist and threw him into the raveen. He fell about forty feet, striking a grindstone pretty hard. I understood he was injured. I haven't heard from the grindstone.

A man in a cockt hat cum up and sed he felt as though a apology was doo me. There was a mistake. The crowd had taken me for another man! I told him not to mention it, and axed him if his wife and little ones was so as to be about, and got on bored the train, which had stopped at that station "20 minits for refreshments." I got all I wantid. It was the hartiest meal I ever et.

I was rid on a rail the next day, a bunch of blazin fire crackers bein tied to my coat tales. It was a fine spectycal in a dramatic pint of view, but I didn't enjoy it. I had other adventures of a startlin kind, but why continner? Why lasserate the Public Boozum with these here things? Suffysit to say I got across Mason & Dixie's line safe at last.

I made tracks for my humsted, but she to whom I'm harnist for life failed to recognize, in the emashiated bein who stood before her, the gushin youth of forty-six summers who had left her only a few months afore. But I went into the pantry, and brought out a certin black bottle. Raisin it to my lips, I sed, "Here's to you, old gal!" I did it so natral that she knowed me at once. "Those form! Them voice! That natral stile of doin things! 'Tis he!" she cried, and rushed into my arms. It was too much for her & she fell into a swoon. I cum very near swoundin myself.

FOURTH OF JULY ORATION.

[Delivered on the Fourth of July at Weathersfield, Conn., 1850.]

I delivered the follerin, about two years ago, to a large and discriminating awjince. I was 96 minits passin a given pint. I have revised the orashun, and added sum things which makes it approposser to the times than it otherwise would be. I have also corrected the grammers and punktooated it. I do my own punktooatin now days. The Printers in VANITY FAIR offis can't punktooate worth a cent.

FELLER CITIZENS: I've bin honored with a invite to norate before you today; and when I say that I skurcely feel ekal to the task, I'm sure you will believe me.

Weathersfield is justly celebrated for her onyins and patritism, the world over, and to be axed to paws and address you on this my fust perfeshernal tower threw New Englan, causes me to feel—to feel—I may say it causes me to feel. (Grate applaws. They thought this was one of my eccentricities, while the fact is I was stuck. This between you and I.)

I'm a plane man. I don't know nothin about no ded languages and am a little shaky on livin ones. There4, expect no flowry talk from me. What I shall say will be to the pint, right strate out.

I'm for the Union as she air, and withered be the arm of every ornery cuss who attempts to bust her up. That's me. I have sed! [It was a very sweaty day, and at this pint of the orashun a man fell down with sunstroke. I told the awjince that considerin the large number of putty gals present I was more afraid of a DAWTER STROKE. This was impromptoo, and seemed to amoose them very much.]

Feller Citizens—I hain't got time to notis the growth of Ameriky from the time when the Mayflowers cum over in the Pilgrim and brawt Plymmuth Rock with them, but every skool boy nose our kareer has bin tremenjis. You will excuse me if I don't prase the erly settlers of the Kolonies. Peple which hung idiotic old wimin for witches, burnt holes in Quakers' tongues and consined their feller critters to the tredmill and pillery on the slitest provocashun may hav bin very nice folks in their way, but I must confess I don't admire their stile, and will pass them by. I spose they ment well, and so, in the novel and techin langwidge of the nusepapers, "peas to their ashis." Thare was no diskount, however, on them brave men who fit, bled and died in the American Revolushun. We needn't be afraid of setting 'em up two steep. Like my show, they will stand any amount of prase. G. Washington was abowt the best man this world ever sot eyes on. He was a clear-heded, warm-harted, and stiddy goin man. He never slopt over! The prevailin weakness of most public men is to SLOP OVER! [Put them words in large letters—A. W.]

They git filled up and slop. They Rush Things. They travel too much on the high presher principle. Washington never slopt over. That wasn't George's stile. He luved his country dearly. He wasn't after the spiles. He was a human angil in a 3 kornered hat and knee britches, and we shan't see his like right away. My frends, we can't all be Washington's, but we kin all be patrits & behave ourselves in a human and a Christian manner. When we see a brother goin down hill to Ruin let us not give him a push, but let us seeze rite hold of his coat-tails and draw him back to Morality.

Oscar Trigg, of Madison, Ind., has a block of beech wood the heart of which is a perfect likeness of a woman, dressed in the style of three or four years ago, the skirts flounced, tucked, gathered and pinned back, and the arms carried a la kangaroo. It is a wonderful freak of wood growth, unaided by art in the least.

GOVERNOR CURTIN TELLS HOW A SOLDIER WON PROMOTION.

AN OLD LADY'S SOLICITUDE FOR HER SON'S SAFETY ENLISTED GURTIN'S SYMPATHY AND GOT HIM INTO A ROW.

It was several months ago. We were sitting by a cozy fire in the cloak room on the Democratic side of the House of Representatives, when ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania entered. His hair is as white as the plumage of a snowy horse, but he retains much of the fire of youth. He is as straight as an arrow, and his eyes sparkle like the eyes of a canary. And there is full as much music in him. His mind is as clear as an Italian sky, his memory of past events marvelous, and his power of description perfect. A colored boy took his coat, hat and umbrella and he joined the story-telling group at the bright fireside It was a favorite nook with him while a member of the House. He preferred it to the room of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, of which he was chairman. He was hardly seated before General Forney of Alabama passed him a fragrant Intimidad. After lighting he crossed his legs, blew wreaths of smoke into the air and listened to past reminiscences.

In the hall outside the droning reading of the Clerk of the House was heard, interrupted at times by the sharp rap of the Speaker's gavel. Through the open door a glimpse at the side gallery was had. Several ladies were leaning forward, evidently regarding the little circle at the ingle side with curious interest. Their attention was momentarily distracted by a sharp spat between General Spinola and Louis E. McComas over a district bill, but it again became concentrated upon the group in the cloak room. Governor Curtin was telling a war story. The handsome old fellow was all aglow. His face pictured the emotions of his soul and his gestures were alive with discriptive power. Framed by the doorway with the fire as a background, and such men as Crisp of Georgia and Flower of New York in the circle of listeners, he must have made a more than interesting picture as seen from the galleries.

There was some humor in the Governor's story, but it was almost lost in its strain of sentiment. The incident occured in the second or third year of the war. The Governor had left Harrisburg and come to Washington on business. A great battle had been fought. The number of killed and wounded had mounted into the thousands. Governor Curtin had been in consultation with the President and members of his cabinet. He had returned to the capitol, where there was a night session of Congress, when an old lady dressed in deep mourning accosted him. She was evidently very poor and nearly distracted. She wore old-fashioned black mitts, and her habiliments of woe were worn and rusty. Her face was wan and wrinkled, and her fingers were toughened with work and gnarled with rheumatism. She had not heard from her boy since the great battle, and had come to Washington in Search of information. He had enlisted in a regiment raised in the mountains of Pennsylvania, and had been at the front for more than a year.

"Oh, Governor," she cried, as tears streamed down her faded cheeks, "my boy never failed to write before. He always sent me a letter after a battle. I havn't heard from him now in more than a fortnight. He's the only boy left me, and I can never live without him. Oh, I fear he's dead or sorely wounded. If I could only get through the lines to nurse him or bring his body back home. Please, Governor, try to get a pass, and God will bless you. My heart wil break without my boy.

The Governor said he heard the number of the regiment with a shudder. It had been in the heart of the fight, and had been cut to pieces. His heart went out to the mother. If her boy was alive he was determined that she should see him, or if dead that she should have his body. Upon questioning he found that she was utterly destitute. She hadn't even money enough to pay for a night's lodging. He assured her that he would do what he could for her.

He would see either the President or the Secretary of War in the morning and get her a pass through our lines. Then he took her by the arm and escorted her down stairs. Passing out under the arch of the Senate wing of the Capitol he halted a cab. Gallantly assisting the old lady into it he paid the cabman his fee, and told him to drive his charge to a hotel, where the Governor was well known, and where he had sent many a destitute friend. As the cab rattled away the Governor turned to re-enter the Capitol, when he met John Sherman, Ben Wade and Galusha A. Grow, then Speaker of the House. The Senate had adjourned, and they were on their way home. It was a clear night. The great temple of a national legislation shone in the moonlight like a palace of alabaster. The city lay below them, dotted with gas lights. The music of a drum was heard away off on the right. A railroad train had arrived with a new regiment, and the troops were seeking quarters at the Soldiers' Rest.

The four statesmen descended Capitol Hill together. They drifted down Pennsylvania avenue, conversing on political topics. They had halted on a corner near the National Hotel preparatory to separating, when a cab was driven to the curb near by. Its driver was in altercation with a woman inside the vehicle. Governor Curtin was even then telling the Senators and Speaker the story of his meeting with the old lady in the Capitol. The altercation attracted his attention. The driver was using villanious language. He insisted that his passenger should leave the coach then and there, or he would pull her out.

"Something told me," said the Governor, "that it was my old lady who was in trouble."

He stepped to the door of the hack and looked in. The suspicion was confirmed. She was the old woman whom he had sent to the hotel, and she was in trouble. The driver had not taken her to her destination.

He had stoped at two or three saloons and spent his fee for liquor. Possibly he had forgotton where the old lady was to go, but at all events he had determined to drop her on the street and let her shift for herself. He was filling the air with profanity and threatening the poor old woman with violance. The Governor was indignant. He asked the hackman whether he had not paid him to take the old lady to a specified place of shelter. The driver swore that he had never seen him before, and threatened to punch his head if he did not mind his own business. The Governor's indignation was getting the better of his judgment. Sherman and Grow tried to calm him, but old Ben Wade grew as hot as a bird pepper and swore like a pirate. He not only wanted the hackman thrashed, but he wanted to help Curtin thrash him. The driver was a giant. He laid his whip across the foot-rest of the hack and squared away. He evidently meant to down not the Governor alone, but the Senators and the Speaker.

Things were decidedly squally when a boy in blue came along. He carried a musket and carried the tail of a buck in his cap. The Governor recognized the insignia. The soldier was a member of Colonel Kane's famous Bucktail Brigade. Over six feet tall he was brawny and well-proportioned. He looked like a raftsman, and he swung along the avenue as if the world was too small for him. He was promptly hailed.

"Do you know me?" the Governor asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "You're Andy Curtin, Governor of Pennsylvania. I've seen you many a time at home and in the field."

"I want you to do me a favor," the Governor continued, pointing to the hackman, who had already begun to skirmish with Ben Wade.

The boy in blue sensed the situation in a twinkling. Turning to the Governor, he said: "Hold my musket."

Then he jumped between Ben Wade and the cabman and salied in. It was a rough and tumble worthy of the days of Poole and Morrissey. The raftsman proved too much for the bully. He had a terrific struggle, but finally literally mopped the sidewalk with him. The hackman looked as if he had been through a fanning mill.

Governor Curtin ascertained the name of the soldier, and placed the old lady in his charge. She arrived at her destination without further trouble. On the next day he secured passes for her, and she went to the front for her boy.

Two weeks afterward Private Fox, of the Bucktail Brigade, received an order directing him to report at the Adjutant General's office in Harrisburg. Transporation and supplies were furnished. It was a bright and sunny morning when he entered the city. Without delay he sought the office of the Adjutant General. There he was told that the Governor wanted to see him. The way to the Executive chamber was pointed out. The soldier entered with his haversack swinging at his side. The Governor stood near a table talking with a friend. He saw Private Fox approaching him. The soldier was awkward and very much embarrassed.

"Good morning, Lieutenant," said the Governor, "I'm glad to see you."

"Why, Governor," replied the boy in blue, "you make a mistake. I'm not a Lieutenant. I'm only a private."

"It is you who make the mistake," the Governor replied, with a smilling face. "You were only a private last night, but you are a Lieutenant this morning. Here is your commission."

It was the commission of the First Lieutenent. The parchment was gratefully accepted. The soldier expressed his thanks. He was modestly asserting a doubt as to his merits, when the Governor replied: "I know your record. You can truthfully say that you won your rank by service on the battlefield."

The Governor dispensed the usual hospitalities and Lieutenant Fox departed. His fate showed that he richly merited the distinction. Within three months he became Captain and afterward Major. He was shot through the heart while leading his regiment as its Lieutenant Colonel in a charge at Spottsylvania.

Stolen Fruits.

The Republican politicians have obtained another Governorship without the consent of the people. A partisan court has determined, upon a technical point involving his naturalization, that JAMES E. BOYD cannot be Governor of Nebraska, although the people of the State elected him to the office by a plurality of 1,144, but that JOHN M. THAYER must remain the chief executive of the State, although he was not a candidate for re-election and received no votes

Without reference to the legal merits of the controversy, no one will regard this decision as anything but partisan and as one more testimony to the universality of the desire of the Republican party to take advantage of every opportunity to defeat the popular will.

Nebraska is the victim of the same dishonorable and unpatriotic tactics that have deprived the people of their choice for Senators in Montana, for Governor in Connecticut and New Hampshire, and are about to give to Rhode Island a Governor who received fewer votes than were cast for his Democratic opponent. And all these robberies rest in the baleful shadow of the Presidential steal of 1877.—World.

The Tyrians excelled all other nations in the manufacture of a purple dye, said to have been extracted from a shellfish found on their coast. It is now well known that tin dissolved in muriatic acid produces a brilliant purple dye. It is not unreasonable, therefore, to suppose that the use of tin in dyeing had much to do in the production of the Tyrian purple of the Phenicians.

The Number Nine.

Nine is the last of the significant digits and expresses the greatest amount that can be indicated by one figure. It is the second square number. It is employed but little in the Scriptures. There are nine orders of angels. Grecians taught that there were nine muses. The mystical and significant numbers formed by combinations of the digits are almost without end and cannot be here mentioned, but a student of numbers will find much in them to interest and instruct. —Chicago Herald.

Scrofula and Salt Rheum

The heritage of which every human being is almost as certain as he is of air, sunlight and breath, is Scrofula Humor. Far away in the realms of history we catch glimpses of what a curse upon the people this all-prevalent contamination made itself. Poor diet and insufficient food, ill ventilation, filth and dampness, all assist the slumbering germs of Scrofula to overpower the vitality of the body and run riot in the system. The blood in its process of renewing the waste cannot expel any inherited taint of weakness or impurity. It can only be removed by the action of some purifying medicinal agency, which assisted by nutritious food, well digested and assimilated into blood, gradually insures the possession of sound health. Such a renovating remedy has Brown's Sarsaparilla proved itself to be, whether this taint has given rise to Scrofula, Salt Rheum Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver Complaints, or Kidney Diseases, which are the most frequent manifestations of its presence, all have readily yielded to the clean and purifying action of Brown's Sarsaparilla.

Cured by the Use of

A VERY BAD CASE

of Scrofula, cured by Brown's Sarsaparilla, has excited the people living in and around the town of Lee, Me. Mr. Averill writes us as follows: "My son has now taken fourteen bottles of Brown's Sarsaparilla, and I am sure it has completed a cure. His case was the worst I ever saw. His face was covered with what seemed to be scales or scabs, and the itching was so intolerable that he tossed about in agony through many a sleepless night. He commenced some weeks ago to use Brown's Sarsaparilla in connection with the salve you sent to allay the irritation, and now he is so far recovered that we consider his complete cure as certain." Mr. J. W. Burke of Lee, chairman of Penobscot Co. Commissioners, says: "It is wonderful what Brown's Sarsaparilla has done for young Averill." In this case Brown's Sarsaparilla threw open the bowels and pores of the skin, at the same time entering the blood, beginning a vigorous warfare on the impure matter found there, and which was a constant source of supply for the scrofulous humor on the outside. In time this was expelled from the system, and only pure matter entered the blood.

SALT RHEUM.

On Davis Street, in Bangor, resides Mrs. Edwin Wiley, whose daughter was badly afflicted with Salt Rheum. At times her face and hands would be covered with blotches. So intense was the itching sensation that applications of salt were made to destroy it. For a long time no relief could be obtained. One day some one suggested Brown's Sarsaparilla, and a bottle was purchased. Later Mrs. Wiley brought her daughter to the establishment of Mr. Ara Warren where Brown's Sarsaparilla is made. The face that a short time previous was covered with blotches, burning and itching, presented as fair and smooth an appearance as that of any young lady. LESS THAN ONE BOTTLE WAS USED.

Special Correspondence of THE COLUMBIAN

HARRISBURG, May 13, 1891.

In the Senate, yesterday morning, Senator Herring, of your county, moved that the Senate go into executive session for the purpose of confirming Governor Pattison's Philadelphia appointments. He made a lengthy speech, in which among other things, he said he desired to convince his Republican bretiren of the error of their ways. He also defined the duties of the Governor and Senate respecting appointments, and held that the agreement entered into by the majority and minority had nothing to do with the issuing of commissions by the Governor. He said in conclusion that the minority would stay here until the crack of doom rather than yield its rights.

This speech stirred up a hornet's nest, and several Senators took exceptions to Mr. Herring's remarks. Among others Gobin, Republican, of Lebanon; Lloyd, Democrat, of Cumberland; Paden, Republican, of Tioga; Green, Democrat, of Berks, and Robinson, Republican, of Delaware The motion did not prevail, and the position on the question remains unchanged.

BALLOT REFORM.

Senator McDonald, of Luzerne, moved to reconsider the vote by which the Baker Ballot Reform bill had been sent back to the Election's Committee. He said it was an important measure, and that it should no longer remain in the hands of the Committee. Senator Ross, of Bucks, said that there were the best of reasons why it should remain in the hands of the committee. Senators Robinson, of Delaware, and Robbins, of Westmoreland, wanted the bill placed on the calendar. A remark made by Robinson that this bill was not wanted in the country districts brought Mr. Ross again to his feet, who said that the people are demanding ballot reform. Senator Mylin, of Lancaster, was not in favor of ballot of constitutional reform. Pending the discussion of the motion the Senate adjourned until this morning. A prominent Democratic Representative remarked to your correspondent last night that the Republican Senators were doing good work for Democratic success next fall, and their pretence for ballot or any other sort of reform was a mere sham. Don't you think he speaks the truth?

IN THE HOUSE.

Matters are moving along in the old fashioned way. When the Non Forfeiture Life Insurance Bill came up on second reading, Mr. Lytte, of Huntington, said he hated to complain, but he must request the Speaker to have insurance agents kept from the floor of the House. To which the Speaker responded by directing the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove any insurance agent found soliciting votes on the fioor. The bill then passed to third reading with some unimportant amendments. The act providing for the health and safety of persons in and around anthracite coal mines came up on third reading, and passed after being slightly amended.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The report of the Committee of Conference on the Chicago World's Fair bill was adopted. It provides that $300,000 be appropriated so that Pennsylvania be properly represented, and also that a Committee of Fifteen be appointed of which six shall be chosen by the Governor, six by the Speaker of the House, and three by the Speaker pro tem of the Senate.

LAST NIGHTS SESSION.

The session of the House last night was mainly devoted to the consideration of appropriation bills on second reading. There was some division, however. First when Mr. Ritter, of Lycoming, moved to reconsider the bill to grant liquor licenses in a ratio of every seven hundred population was indefinitely postponed at Monday night's session. He was seconded by Mr. Lytte, of Huntingdon, but the House was "forninst" the bill entirely, for when Mr. Quigley, of Philadelphia, moved to indefinitely pospone Mr. Ritter's motion for reconsideration it was carried by a tremendous shout of ayes.

The second was when two vetoes of Governor Pattison were laid before the House and read by the clerk. The first, in reference to the publication of the Mercantile Appraisers' list of Allegheny County, his objections were sustained by a vote of 86 yeas to 76 nays; and the second to the bill authorizing boroughs to increase their indebtedness for certain special purposes, the Governor's objections were again sustained by a vote of 80 to 70. This Legislature can do many things, but it cannot override the able and sound vetoes of our popular Reform Governor.

INDULGING IN PLEASANTRY.

As the end of the session draws near, the members of the House are inclined to indulge in the more than usual amount of pleasantry Last night before the session began several members sang with considerable effect, "The Old Oaken Bucket," while others were engaged in the dignified work of throwing pamphlets and paper balls at their colleagues. But dignity was soon a distinguishing characteristic of the lower brands of the Pennsylvania Legislature. The final adjournment will take place about the 28th inst.

THE LEGISLATURE APPORTIONMENT.

The Republican Legislature Apportionment bill has passed the House on second reading. It is about as unfair and unjust as the Republican party itself. I think the Republicans will have their pains for nothing, for the bill will surely be vetoed by the Governor, and, as they have not a two-thirds vote in either branch, they will not be able to defeat his veto.

COLUMBIA.

HERRING RAISES A ROW.

THE COLUMBIA SENATOR SAILS INTO THE REPUBLICANS.

The senate chamber was the scene of an animated debate on Tuesday, which took every Senator by surprise except Mr. Herring, of Columbia, the youngest member of that body, who precipitated it. The Senate had scarcely been called to order before Senator Herring launched forth in a speech, which proved to be one of the ablest delivered at this session. It was a severe criticism of the course of the majority in refusing to confirm the more important nominations of Governor Pattison. Many authorities were cited to show that the Republican stand was untenable.

The young Senator was defiant, and declared that the minority were in a position to dictate terms, and that they would not be satisfied until the opposition had made an unconditional surrender. His Democratic colleagues were as much surprised as the Republican Senators by his attitude, and Messrs. Lloyd and Green tried to mollify the partisan feeling which the speech excited among the Republicans. It had become pretty generally understood that the suspended appointments were to be confirmed in the near future, but the political onslaught of Senator Herring caused a radical change in the situation.

Senator Gobbin hinted that the difficulties between the majority of the Senate and the Governor were about being adjusted but the bitter speech of the Senator from Columbia had made a settlement undesirable at this time. Senators Gobin and Packer directed their oratorical shafts at Mr. Herring, but he stood his ground gallantly. Senator Robinson indulged in a lot of pleasantries and indicated that there was nothing to be gained by hanging up the Governor's appointments, as he could reappoint the same men at the end of the session.

A motion offered by Mr. Herring to go into executive session for the purpose of considering the suspended nominations was voted down by a party vote.

The discussion on the Governor's appointments was followed by an interesting debate on the disposition made of the Baker ballot reform bill in its recommittal to the Senate committee on elections. In an interview with Senator Crouse, the chairman, it was stated by that gentleman that the action had been taken to enable Senators McDonald, of Lackawanna, and Monaghan, of Schuylkill, to make amendments to the bill.

Coal Found in Columbia County.

The farmers in Locust and Roaring Creek townships, Columbia county, are greatly excited over what they believe to be a find of valuable coal, near Slabtown. The discovery was made while plowing on Samuel Cases' land, several pieces of coal being turned up. An out-crop has since been found along the creek at Jeremiah Snyder's mill, from which several buckets of free burning coal have been taken. Steps are to be taken to ascertain the extent and value of the deposit.

It Works Wonders.

The tonic and alterative properties of S. S. S. are now widely known, and it enjoys wonderful popularity as a spring medicine. It is as perfectly adapted to the delicate system of a little child as it is to that of the adult. It works wonders on those who use it as a tonic, as an alterative, and as a blood purifier. It gives health, strength and heartiness to the sick and the feeble. It is adapted to the very young and the very old. It revives, renews builds up the feeble or the broken-down system.

Forest fires are raging throughout Central Pennsylvania. In many sections the mountains are ablaze and great tracts of timber have been destroyed.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. A RIDE TO DEATH.

AWFUL DISASTER IN POTTER COUNTY.

A TRAIN WRECKED IN THE MIDST OF A FOREST FIRE.

COUDERSPORT, PENNA., May 11.—To-night the lumber farming towns of Austin, Costello, Galeton and Moore's Run, in Potter county, are on the verge of a panic, two especially being threatened with annihilation from fires that seem to form an impenetrable wall on every side.

For several days the skies have been lighted up with fires apparently in every direction, but little fears were entertained by the people living in the towns, as those threatened and in danger were farmers in the country districts or lumber camps in the midst of the blazing forest. In spite of every effort, however, the flames crept steadily in towards the helpless towns until it was seen the people must fight back the flames or have their houses burned down over their heads.

At Moore's Run, on the pretty Sinnemahoning road, a crowd of seventy-five willing men, sent out from Austin Sunday night, had been fighting back the fire. They made trenches, piled up earth and lighted back fires, but were finally obliged to retreat. The men hastily boarded the train and started to make a run to another point when it was found they were hemmed in by the forest fires on one side and a huge skidway of logs on the other. It was finally decided to dash past the burning skidway, and the engineer and firemen, with faces covered with dampened cloths and their hands and arms wrapped in wool, mounted the little engine and pulled out through the wall of fire. The men gathered in groups on the flats for protection or lay on their faces on the floor. As the blazing furnace of logs was approached the heat became unbearable and the smoke so blinding and stifling the men were obliged to cover their mouths with cloths. Just opposite the millions of feet of burning logs, where the heat and smoke and flames were the greatest, a terrible thing ocurred. The engineer had forgotten that such great heat would surely spread the rails, and he pulled the throttle wider in the hope of sooner escaping from the torment of heat and smoke. Then then there was a lurch, an ominous heaving and a shriek of dispair as the train toppled over into the hell of fire underneath. A scene ensued never to be forgotten by those who escaped, though every man will bear to his grave a mark of that awful moment. The cars caught fire and the men half blinded and scarcely realizing anything, except that they were being slowly roasted to death, struggled fearfully to regain the track where safety lay, for a time at least. Those uninjured from the fall, and smarting from the pain of intense heat, bravely turned their burned, blackened hands to aid their more unfortunate fellows.

At this hour it is impossible to secure details, though enough is known of the scene that followed the hurling of the struggling mass of men into the furnace of flames, to say its like had never occurred before.

Superintendent Badger, of the Sennemahoning Valley Road, was in charge of the relief train and had worked the hardest of them all to save the properties of others. When the train ditched and rolled over so suddenly he must have been injured so as to be unable to help himself, and owing to the smoke and panic he was not found until too late—jammed in the wreck he had evidently slowly burned to death.

At this time, 9.30 p. m., it is known that six others also miserably perished at once or died soon after, and thirty others of the party were badly burned, many probably fatally, owing to the fears that they inhaled the flames. Seven others of the party are missing, and their fate is unknown, though they are likely to be in the charred wood of the logs of the train.

A wrecking party started for the scene as soon as the fearful news spread, many relatives of the men injured insisting on accompanying the wrecking train, though they will hardly be able to reach the place of wreck unless the fires have burned themselves out.

Owing to the great devastation done to everything, communication is badly interrupted and it is impossible to learn the names of the men burned or those still missing.

As to the damage, it is known that 40,000,000 feet of hemlock logs and timber and 25,000 cords of bark have already been destroyed, and the fires are still raging. This evening the people are praying for rain as it seems nothing but a drenching will quuench the flames. They must either be extinguished by the flood of heaven or burn out for the lack of material. The air is so oppressive that many workers faint from exhaustion, and are dragged away from a flame that has done nothing as yet but steadily advance.

Late dispatches from Austin confirm former reports: The body of Superintendent Badger has been found burned to a crisp and the entire party would have perished had they not immersed themselves in a creek. The fires have been raging forty-eight hours.

Something at Atlantic City.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD'S FACILITIES FOR GETTING THERE.

The spring season which is just now drifting into summer has been the most prosperous in all the history of Atlantic City. Never have so many people been attracted to its great beach from all sections of the land, and never have its hostelries been so well equipped for providing comfortable and attractive accommodations. In the present, which is usually a breathing time between seasons, visitors still continue to pour into the city, so that when the summer hosts come they will find a good-sized garrison already in possession of the fortress. There will be ample room for all however, and the indications foreshadow the greatest summer season ever known. Preparations are being made for it now. New hoteis, of the lesser grade, are building, new cottages are springing up on heretofore vacant ground, and enlargement and improvement of existing structures is the order of the day. The great board-walk, now known by the more dignified and appropriate title of the Ocean Promenade, has withstood all the storms of winter and is in perfect condition, the streets are being improved, new facilities for amusement are under way at the Inlet, and every one of the city's 15,000 people appear to be doing something to make the great resort more charming.

The facilities for reaching it are being developed with a view to the great strain to which the summer traffic will subject them. The Pennsylvania Railroad's double lines from Market Street, Philadelphia, are to be operated on a plan which will yield the greatest speed and promptness of movement, while guaranteeing absolute safety and comfort. The tracks are in excellent condition, the rolling stock of the most approved kind, and the management keenly alive to the best interests of the traveling public. Not only will a well-adjusted service of fast and well equipped trains be maintained between Philadelphia and Atlantic City, but the through New York service, which has accomplished so much in securing travel from the East, will be continued. Apart from these facilities excursions of a special or general character will be arranged from time to time from all points on the Pennsylvania System at low rates.

By these means the residents of the remote as well as the near points will enjoy every opportunity of spending some time by the sea.

Atlantic City opens her gates in welcome to all, and the Pennsylvania Railroad and its connections is the highway that leads to the sea.

Pure Rye Whiskey.

One year ago we had 5000 gallons of Old Rye Whiskey in Bond, which was considered a large stock to carry and sufficient for the trade. The demand, however, for our whiskey became such, that we were compelled to increase the capacity of our distillery, in order to give the whiskey some age before placing it on the market.

We are now making over a barrel a day; having a daily capacity of over 50 gals. and carrying a stock of 11,000 gals. in Bond. We hope to give our patrons the benefit of the age and will sell no whiskey under six months, and from that up to three years. No second hand barrels are used at our Distillery; all our whiskey is bonded in new, clean, charred. barrels, and for purity and quality we defy competition.

We have never distilled a bushel of corn, and we do hereby guarantee ALL our whiskey to be absolutely Pure Rye and doubled on a copper lined still and to any person who will find any drugs or corn in our whiskey as it leaves our Distilllery or Salesroom, we will forfeit $500.00.

BRIARCREEK.

Mr. Samuel Slicker lost a very valuable horse on last Sunday.

Snow on the 6th of May, put a great many farmers out of the notion to plant corn yet.

Mr. Clemuel Woodin, of Berwick is fast building his summer residence in Briarcreek, which is about one mile north of Berwick. This will be one of the grandest sites in the community.

Mr. Samuel Knorr has under his management a very large registered Clydesdale stallion. The stallion weighs fourteen hundred pounds, and is only three years old. We understand a stock company of twenty-four farmers of Mifflinville and Briarcreek township have an interest in the horse.

Ash & Bro. resumed operations at their distillery on the first of May. We see Mr. L. D. Kase making his daily visits to their place again. That's right, Mr. Kase keep them straight.

We hear the cry from most every ones lips, that the cold weather I am afraid has killed all the fruit.

A surprise party was given for Mrs. S. Barton on last Saturday afternoon being her birthday. She received some very valuable presents. A dozen cane-bottom chairs, stands, and many other smaller things, which were very much appreciated.

POULTRY NOTES.

No. 16.

Filth, lice, disease, death.

Did you notice that smell when you passed the hen house?

It will pay in the health of the family and poultry, to clean cups, and disinfect with carbolic acid diluted in water.

There are poultry houses that are not safe to enter, unless you wish to be attacked by millions of lice. How is yours?

Now is the time to white wash and clean up, and make things smell clean and sweet.

It pays to make pets of your stock of any kind as you will thereby get the best results. Red Caps, says the Fancier's Review, derive their name from the bright red caps shaped comb which adorns their heads which in cocks grows to a large size. The Red Caps have never undergone any of the process of breeding strictly for fancy points alone, utility being placed first, fancy coming in as an after consideration, it is hard to find a handsomer fowl than the Red Caps. The male is a bird of handsome appearance, broad in breast, wide across the shoulders, and good length of limb. Comb should be large, erect, nicely shaped, and full of points with straight spike behind. It should also be perfectly firm on the the head. In color the cock is rich dark red with black breast and tail. The comb of the hen is similar only smaller, the feathers on breast, back, saddle, shoulders, and underparts are rich neat brown, each feather tipped with a bluish black spangle; they are nonsellers, and extraordinary good layers, wherever kept they make themselves favorites. With regard to utility, very few breeds will turn out as many eggs in the course of a year.

A Crank Who Wanted Jay Gould to Divide Up.

A dangerous crank, who gives his name as Charles J. Dickson, was arrested last week at the request of Jay Gould. Dickson went on Monday to the house of Dr. Munn, Gould's physician, and announced that he was vice president of an order called "The Christ Followers" and that he had a mission to kill Jay Gould. If, however, the millionaire would give him $60,000 and make certain arrangements for the distribution of for his property to charity he would refrain from assassination. Dixon will be examined as to his sanity.

On Dixon's person when arrested was found a blackjack and a pistol. He made no resistance and after reaching police headquarters told Police Inspector Byrnes that he was in the land commission business at Pueblo, Col, and left there on April 15. He related a thrilling story to the inspector about four men he had killed single handed while they attempted to rob his office of legal papers He said he joined the "Christ Followers" about a year ago in the following manner. He was instructed to go to a place called Owl's Head, on the Canada line.

He stayed until dark and then about fifty men appeared and surrounded him. He was made to kneel and take a number of blood curdling oaths. The object of the organization was for the equalization of money.

The council met about the 15th of last month, he said, and convicted Jay Gould. It fell to his lot to go to New York and make certain proposals to Mr. Gould regarding the distribution of his wealth, and if they were not complied with he was to kill himself. He would go to Hartford, Conn., his native place, where he had a spot selected for the deed. He said he would have two pistols, one to fire into the air and the other to shoot himself with. This would give the impression that he had been murdered. The police regard the man as a very dangerous crank.

AN INVENTION THAT APPREHENDS THE DEADLY GAS IN A COAL MINE.

William K. Lord, of Mt. Carmel, and William Bullock, of Centralia were in Pottsville to-day, and appeared before the Mine Commission which is in session at the Court House. Their object was to lay before that body the advantages of a draft annunciator for mines, that they have invented, and if possible, to get the commission to recommend the adoption in their report.

In coal mines there is liability of violent and destructive explosions from accumulations of gas, and this trouble is peculiarly liable in anthracite mining. To obviate this danger it is necessary to have an air current constantly maintained, the circulation being by airways. Upon the strength and vigor of the air current depends the safety of the mine, and a cessation of the circulation would allow a dangerous accumulation of gas which might explode. The purpose of this annunciator, a model of which was shown and its workings fully explained to the commission, is to furnish automatic and reliable indication of the air current, and to record the same on a dial, also to transmit the signal sounds through the medium of a telephone or electric bell to the office of general management in the mining district. The device embodies a rotating fan of any efficient construction mounted within the return airway of the mine. On the shaft of this fan is a worm wheel that engages with a train of gearing, whose lower termination turns the index hand of the dial, thus indicating the amount of revolutions accomplished by the fan wheel. On the last wheel of the series is also a number of stud projections, which consecutively engage with an arm from a rock shaft, which has an upward stem so arranged as to come in contact with the post, causing an alternate opening and closing of an electric current that operates an alarm bell, which may be placed in the central office. By this arrangement the managers can at all times be informed of the state of affairs regarding the air passages in the various mines; Inside the hollow hub of the fan wheel is placed a slip collar on the axis stem, connected by small spring rods to one end of the aperture; These spring rods have small ball weights centrally placed, so that rapid rotation inclines them outward by centrifugal force, which draws the collar away from a contact screw that closes a circuit. When the motion of the fan wheel is very sluggish or stops entirely for want of propelling current, the collar is pressed in contact with the screw and causes the alarm bell to ring continuously during the subsidence of the air movement, thus warning the management to be on his guard.—Pottsville Republican.

BRIARCREEK.

Mr. Samuel Slicker lost a very valuable horse on last Sunday.

Snow on the 6th of May, put a great many farmers out of the notion to plant corn yet.

Mr. Clemuel Woodin, of Berwick is fast building his summer residence in Briarcreek, which is about one mile north of Berwick. This will be one of the grandest sites in the community.

Mr. Samuel Knorr has under his management a very large registered Clydesdale stallion. The stallion weighs fourteen hundred pounds, and is only three years old. We understand a stock company of twenty four farmers of Mifflinville and Briarcreek township have an interest in the horse.

Ash & Bro. resumed operations at their distillery on the first of May. We see Mr. L. D. Kase making his daily visits to their place again. That's right, Mr. Kase keep them straight.

We hear the cry from most every ones lips, that the cold weather I am afraid has killed all the fruit.

A surprise party was given for Mrs. S. Barton on last Saturday afternoon being her birthday. She received some very valuable presents. A dozen cane-bottom chairs, stands, and many other smaller things, which were very much appreciated.

Now is the time to white wash and clean up, and make things smell clean and sweet.

It pays to make pets of your stock of any kind as you will thereby get the best results. Red Caps, says the Fancier's Review, derive their name from the bright red caps shaped comb which adorns their heads which in cocks grows to a large size. The Red Caps have never undergone any of the process of breeding strictly for fancy points alone, utility being placed first, fancy coming in as an after consideration, it is hard to find a handsomer fowl than the Red Caps. The male is a bird of handsome appearance, broad in breast, wide across the shoulders, and good length of limb. Comb should be large, erect, nicely shaped, and full of points with straight spike behind. It should also be perfectly firm on the the head. In color the cock is rich dark red with black breast and tail. The comb of the hen is similar only smaller, the feathers on breast, back, saddle, shoulders, and underparts are rich neat brown, each feather tipped with a bluish black spangle; they are nonsellers, and extraordinary good layers, wherever kept they make themselves favorites. With regard to utility, very few breeds will turn out as many eggs in the course of a year.

A Crank Who Wanted Jay Gould to Divide Up.

A dangerous crank, who gives his name as Charles J. Dickson, was arrested last week at the request of Jay Gould. Dickson went on Monday to the house of Dr. Munn, Gould's physician, and announced that he was vice president of an order called "The Christ Followers" and that he had a mission to kill Jay Gould. If, however, the millionaire would give him $60,000 and make certain arrangements for the distribution of for his property to charity he would refrain from assassination. Dixon will be examined as to his sanity.

On Dixon's person when arrested was found a blackjack and a pistol. He made no resistance and after reaching police headquarters told Police Inspector Byrnes that he was in the land commission business at Pueblo, Col, and left there on April 15. He related a thrilling story to the inspector about four men he had killed single handed while they attempted to rob his office of legal papers He said he joined the "Christ Followers" about a year ago in the following manner. He was instructed to go to a place called Owl's Head, on the Canada line.

He stayed until dark and then about fifty men appeared and surrounded him. He was made to kneel and take a number of blood curdling oaths. The object of the organization was for the equalization of money.

The council met about the 15th of last month, he said, and convicted Jay Gould. It fell to his lot to go to New York and make certain proposals to Mr. Gould regarding the distribution of his wealth, and if they were not complied with he was to kill himself. He would go to Hartford, Conn., his native place, where he had a spot selected for the deed. He said he would have two pistols, one to fire into the air and the other to shoot himself with. This would give the impression that he had been murdered. The police regard the man as a very dangerous crank.

An Advertising Speculation.

Among the many incidents characteristic of human nature is one which recently came under the observation of a young man connected with a prominent publishing house, one of the oldest in the country, and which has for three generations been conducted by the descendants of the original founder. With other publications there was issued a neat little treatise on household economy, showing how, on a small income, it was possible to live comfortably. The author was a woman, and gave her book the title, "How She Did It." The book had a fairly good sale, but presently there appeared to be a sudden and unaccountable demand for the volume, and every fortnight the house was puzzled by orders for more. It ran through a fourth edition before the young superintendent learned the cause. The orders had invariably come from the same source, and it was then discovered that the persistent buyer advertised the book extensively in sporting and other journals. His method was simplicity itself. The title given, he would insert, "Mailed secure for fifty cents, sealed."—Truth.

About Printers' Ink.

This is the day of printers' ink, and the prizes are for those who use it. Your traditions and prejudices may be to the contrary, but the world doesn't care a fig for them. The man who sits and waits for his trade in these days gets left. Don't advertise, don't quote your price lists, don't see that your city or your business is represented in your patronizing territory, and don't stand up manfully alongside of those who are fighting for your rights and interests, and there can be but one result—shriveling up. Good salesmen, first class articles, gilt edged credit are not enough. They are excellent, necessary—but not enough. Printers' ink beats them in the long run. Uncle Sam's mails go every day, carrying their freight of special offers, new crops, long credits, cash discounts, job lots and lovers' tales from everywhere. And in the end your trade is seduced. It's the world-old story of the honeyed tongue and the open ear. In the fierce competition of these days old habits and associations simply cannot stand the pressure. The trade is for the man who uses printers' ink.—Grocery World.

Development in Advertising.

In no department of the modern newspaper has there been greater and more marked improvements shown than in the field of advertising. There is a greater display of taste and literary style in the composition, and an evident effort is made to appeal to the intelligence and refinement of the reader. This is seen not only in the advertisements of the large mercantile establishments, where trained skill is employed, but as well in the three line advertisement which is written by the advertiser himself, and which, in terseness and directness of style, can lay claim to great literary merit. The development of advertising may yet lead to the establishment of special courses of training in business colleges. Already nearly $25,000,000 are spent annually in the United States in newspaper advertising, every dollar of which, if used judiciously, has returned a large interest to the investor.—Philadelphia Press.

You Must Have the Stuff.

Advertising alone—no matter how excellent—cannot build up a big trade or make a house great; yet vital importance hinges upon advertising, for very few concerns have ever reached colossal proportions without liberal and intelligent advertising. I have in my mind four words that mean much:

Variety, Style, Quality, Price!

The store that has these, and in its advertisements tells its story in a plain, fair, square way that's attractive and readable, is bound to prosper.—Henry Curtin in Clothing Gazette.

Don't Be Afraid.

Too little advertising is like sowing too little seed. A farmer in planting corn puts a number of grains into each hill, and is satisfied if one good healthy stalk comes from each planting. It's the constant advertiser that is bound to attract attention. It's the succession of bright, catchy advertisements that refuse to be ignored. That the proper time must be allowed for the fruit to grow, ripen and be gathered is as true as that wheat cannot be reaped the day after it is sown.—Printer's Ink.

Mix Your Ink with Sense.

Of course there's money in printers' ink, but the man who makes the most intelligent use of it gets the most money out of it. It does not pay to advertise something you have not got, or anything you cannot do, and do well. The man who advertises a fraud must have a "good" fraud, and he who advertises bargains in goods must be prepared to satisfy his customers. Any advertiser should undertake to present some sort of a claim for patronage.

Not a Charity.

In any just view of a quarter of a century of journalistic work the most prominent feature, and one giving great satisfaction to respectable publishers, is that printing a newspaper has become recognized as a business and not a charity.—Owen Scott.

GRAINS OF GOLD.

Big words sometimes express very small ideas.

Better refuse to quarrel than make it up afterward.

Severity breedeth fear, but roughness breedeth hate.

Esteem is the harvest of a whole life spent in usefulness.

Nature is often hidden, sometimes overcome, seldom extinguished.

There are more people who can forget themselves than govern themselves.

Every virtuous and wise being is in himself a proof of immortality.—[Richter.

Experience, wounded, is the school where men learn piercing wisdom.—[Brooke.

Oh, never chide the wing of Time
Or say 'tis tardy in its flight.

Nothing is more simple than greatness; indeed, to be simple is to be great.—[Emerson.

There is no greater delight than to be conscious of sincerity on self examination.—[Mencius.

He who tries to solve the problem of his own existence will find that it takes just a little longer than a lifetime.

Every man feels instinctively that all the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than a single lovely action.

Were sympathy pruned of its redundant branches and its vital sap directed into proper channels, its fruit would contribute far more effectively than it now does for the healing of the nations, and the law of kindness would be much better fulfilled.

It is no man's business whether he has genius or not; work he must, whatever he is, but quietly and steadily; and the natural and enforced result of such work (says Ruskin) will always be the things that God meant him to do, and will be his best.

Nothing is so contagious as example; never is any considerable good or ill done that does not produce its like. We imitate good actions through emulation, and bad ones through a malignity in our nature, which shame concealed, and example sets at liberty.

The chief thing to be done for those who are in trouble is to enable them to stand upon their own feet, to be brave and strong, to see the sun shining through the clouds, and thus to receive the education which such experiences are able to give. True friendship in calamity will spare no pains and leave no means untried to further these results.

The pope has written to Emperor William as follows: "Religious sentiment affords the only means of solving the existing terrible social problems. Our mutual conviction of this fact is a bond between us, although divided by faith."

An estimate based upon actual canvass of one district of New York city divides the metropolitan population as follows: Roman Catholics, 762,666; church going Protestants, 258,666; non church going Protestants, 253,333; heathen, 325,335. Total—1,600,000.

Rev. C. Dauray of the Church of the Precious Blood, Woonsocket, R. I., has announced that he will pay for all the brick necessary to erect a home and school for the Christian brothers who will arrive there next fall, and that he will also give the entire Christmas collection to the building fund.

It is stated that the founders of Port Angeles, Wash., were infidels. The location of Christians was discouraged, and it was expressly understood that no church or minister was desired, or would ever be permitted. "But," says a Pacific correspondent, "in due time Christians came, and the churches, and the ministers, with their prayer meetings and Sunday schools, and they are there now with increasing numbers and strength."

A copy of the new testament, translated into Tannese by the Rev. William Watt, has been received for the Congregational Bible Society's library as a gift from the National Bible Society of Scotland. EVERY YEAR.

Ah! how sad to look before us
Every year;
While the cloud grows darker o'er us
Every year.
When the blossoms all are faded,
That to bloom we might have prided
And immortal garlands braided
Every year.

To the past go more dead faces
Every year;
Come no new ones in their places
Every year.
Everywhere the sad eyes meet us,
In the coming dusk they greet us,
And to come to them entreat us
Every year.

"You are growing old," they tell us
Every year;
"You are more alone," they tell us
Every year.
"You can win no new affection;
You have only recollection,
Deeper sorrow, and dejection,
Every year."

Yes, the shores of life are shifting
Every year;
And we are seaward drifting
Every year;
Old places changing fret us,
The living more forget us,
There are fewer to regret us
Every year.

But the truer life draws nigher
Every year;
And its morning star climbs higher
Every year;
Earth's hold on us grows slighter,
And the heavy burden lighter,
And the dawn immortal brighter
Every year.

Thank God, no clouds are shifting
Every year
O'er the land to which we're drifting
Every year;
No losses there will grieve us,
Nor loving faces leave us,
Nor death of friend bereave us
Every year.

—[Albert Pike.

Couldn't Catch Him.

His eye lighted on the man wearing the wolfskin overcoat as soon as he entered the door, and the presumed far Westerner had scarcely got seated when he was accosted with:

"From Colorado or Nevada, I presume?"

"No, sir, from Idaho."

"Anywhere near Boise City?"

"Right from that place, sir."

"Ah! glad to have met you. Wanted to talk with you about the weather out there. Been very cold this winter?"

"Not so very. It was only 15 degrees below when I left."

"Is that the coldest?"

"Well we had it 23 degrees below for a few days in December."

"Did, eh? I have been keeping track of the weather as reported by the signal service. Here is Boise City pasted in this column."

"I see. You must have an object."

"Certainly. I travel a good deal, and I always like to stop a liar in the first round. This report does not show that you have even touched zero this winter. How is that?"

"My friend, is that the weather bureau report?" asked wolf overcoat.

"It is."

"Official?"

"Yes, sir. Can you get over it?"

"I don't have to, sir. I should have told you on the start that our town is divided. Half of it is built on an old glacier and the other half in the crater of a volcano. The signal office is located in the latter half, and even in January they have to pour water on the floor to cool it off. Up in my half we often have it 20 degrees below while they are picking roses down in the crater. Signal service is only for half the town, sir, and before you call a Boise City man a liar you should find out which half he lives in. Go away from me, sir! You look like a bad, bad man!"

A Cincinnati Idyl.

There is to be a wedding in the West End soon which will be the sequel to a rather romantic introduction. One night about a year ago a daintily attired little lady got aboard one of the 7th street cars on her way home from her day's work in an uptown office. The car was well filled, and the young lady was compelled to swing on the end of a strap for many squares. She was a little bit of a body, and she had to stretch her arms considerably to reach a strap for support. The car gave a lurch as it turned a corner, and a white hand made its appearance about the little woman's waist. As it slowly grew larger broad smiles made their appearance on the faces of several of the male passengers. Feeling something was wrong, the young lady glanced down at her waist and at once blushed crimson with embarrassment. A young mechanic on his way home from work was in the car, and seeing the young lady's dilemma he proved himself a true gentleman by at once coming to her assistance. Stepping between her and the other passengers he said:

"Pardon me, miss, but if you wish to adjust your skirt I will screen you from the over curious eyes of these other passengers."

The little lady accepted the proffered aid with thanks, and after that they met nearly every evening on their way home. Their acquaintance ripened into something stronger than friendship, and the closing act in this "romance of a car strap" will be the wedding of these two. —[Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hog Raising in the South.

It is fair to say that in nineteen out of every twenty houses in Monroe county to-day, without regard to race, color, or previous condition of servitude of the occupants, spare ribs, backbone, jowl, sausage, crackling bread, and other things incidental to Southern hog killing, constitutes a large portion of the bill of fare. Hundreds of our farmers will make meat enough to do them; many will make enough to spare for sale, and all will save the meat of a few hogs. The colored farmers are no exception to this. One is recorded who put up 1,500 pounds, and has hogs enough yet to give him 1,500 pounds more. These hogs were mostly fattened on sweet potatoes, the corn crop of many farms being almost an entire failure, while the potato crop was most bountiful. Sweet potatoes have already contributed largely to pork making in this section of Mississippi.—[Aberdeen (Miss.) Examiner.

AMONG THE DUTCH.

Some of the Queer Customs Observed by a Stranger in Holland.

All things are reversed in Holland, says Mary Mapes in St. Nicholas. The main entrance to the finest public building in the country, the palace, or late town hall, of Amsterdam, is its back door. Bashful maidens hire beaux to escort them to the kermis, or fair, on festival days. Timid citizens are scared in the dead of night by their own watchmen, who at every quarter of the hour make such a noise with their wooden clappers one would suppose the town to be on fire. You will see sleds used in summer there. They go bumping over the bare cobble stones, while the driver holds a dripping oil rag in advance of the runners to lessen the friction.

You will see streets of water, and the country roads paved as nicely as Broadway. You will see vessels hitched, like horses, to their owners' doorposts, and whole rows of square peaked houses leaning over the street, as if they were getting ready to tumble. Instead of solemn striking clocks, you will hear church chimes playing snatches of operatic airs every quarter of an hour, by way of marking the time. You will see looking glasses hanging outside of the dwellings, and pin cushions displayed on the street doors. The first are called Spionnen (or Spionnetjen), and are so arranged outside of the windows that persons sitting inside can, without being seen, enjoy a reflection of all that is going on in the street. They can learn, too, what visitor may be coming, and watch him rubbing his soles to a polish before entering.

The pin cushion means that a new baby has appeared in the household. If white or blue, the newcomer is a girl; if red, it is a little Dutchman. Some of these signals are very showy affairs; some are not cushions at all, but merely shingles trimmed with ribbon or lace; and among the poorer class it is not uncommon to see merely a white or red string tied to the door latch—a fit token of the meager life the poor little stranger is destined to lead.

Sometimes, instead of either pin cushion or shingle, you will see a large placard hung outside of the front door. Then you may know that somebody in the house is ill, and his or her present condition is described on the placard for the benefit of inquiring friends; and sometimes, when such a placard has been taken down, you may meet a grim looking man on the street dressed in black tights, a short cloak, and a high hat, from which a long black streamer is flying. This is the Aanspreker going from house to house to tell certain persons that their friend is dead. He attends to funerals, and bears invitations to all friends whose presence may be desired. A strange, weird looking figure he is, and he wears a peculiar professional cast of countenance that is anything but comforting.

Jewels Found in America.

W. A. Kerr, jeweler, New York, at the Palmer: I was once asked by a lady if there were many precious stones found in the United States. She meant minerals. She was of the same opinion of many others in this country, that everything precious in that line was found only in the Old World. There is, I believe, little mining here for precious gems, but it is not because we do not have them. Rock crystal, which admits of such a high polish, and which is much used in jewelry now, is found in large quantities in North Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, and Arkansas. There is a jet in Colorado that is equal to any I ever saw, and I believe there is some in Texas. In Maine there is a mountain called Mount Mica, out of which tourmalines to the value of $100,000 a year are taken. Moonstone is found in Virginia, and the soil of New Mexico is enriched with sapphires, rubies, and garnets. I wish I could come back to the United States one hundred years from now. We think this is a glorious country now. In another century the cities of this country will surpass the descriptions we have of the New Jerusalem, and millionaires will be as common as poor relations. You and I are living too soon, believe me.—[Chicago Tribune.

A Hundred and Forty Religions.

The census announcement that there are 140 religious bodies in the United States, exclusive of many independent congregations, will be received with some surprise by most people, whose knowledge of different sects does not embrace more than a dozen or twenty at the most. In the list disclosed by the census bureau are the General Six Principle Baptists, the Schwenkfeldians, the Theosophical Society, the Life and Advent Union, and others, which to a majority of people will be entirely new. With a hundred and forty creeds formally adopted, and "many independent organizations" with their own notions besides, the task of those who favor church union is difficult indeed.

If only the more numerous denominations existed the labor of effecting a unity of churches with regard to polity and the more essential doctrines might be easier, but what shall be said when a hundred little denominations, sturdy in their beliefs and customs, are in the field, loath to give them up?

A Negro's Keys to Heaven.

The Palatka (Fla.) Herald is in possession of a cane with quite a history. Recently Tom Goodyear, an old negro, aged about 86 years, died. In his death-bed was a common walking stick, on the handle of which were two leather straps, to which were attached two keys—one large and the other small. The old negro carried the cane during the last 25 years of his life. He never went without it, and always proclaimed that the small key would open his way into the better world, and that the large key, should he not go to that desired land, would allow him to escape from the doors of that land which is hotter than this. But when Goodyear died he left the keys and stick by his side while his spirit departed to that undiscovered land. It matters not which place the good old colored man went, he will find the doors open for his reception.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

BELVERSON, Pa., Nov. 27, '90.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:

Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly, WM. A. CURL.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Gents: In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced it a lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle, and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April, showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours, EUGENE DEWITT.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont.

Mountain Fires Beyond Control.

FOUR THOUSAND ACRES OF LUMBER LAND DESTROYED IN HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

HUNTINGDON, May 12.—Over four thousand acres of valuable timber lands are aflame within a radius of seven miles of this place, and in distant parts of the country the woodland is being swept away at an alarming extent. The mountain fires are beyond all human control and can only be extinguished by a rainfall. The sections suffering most are in the East Broad Top region, where the fire nearly extends to Well's Tannery, in Fulton county and on Tussey's Mountain, Ray's Hill and Warrior Ridge.

In Broad Top, Soloman Koch, William Koch and Eli Kates' farm buildings have been seriously threatened for nearly eight hours, and in Trough Creek Valley, Isaac Taylor, Wilson Houck and Michael Martin's properties are momentarily threatened with destruction. The farmers in the whole burning district have sustained irreparable losses to fencing and hundreds of acres of growing grain have been ruined. The various fires originated from either the railroads or wandering bands of gypsies.

Foggs—"There's nothing so delicious in the world as to reach out of bed in the morning to ring for your valet to come and dress you."

Brown—"Have you a valet?"

Foggs—"No, but I have a bell."

Brown—"But what good does it do you to ring it? No valet will come in response."

Foggs—"But that's just the most delectable part of it. As the valet doesn't come you don't have to get up."—Boston Transcript.

Mr. B.—"No thank you."

Landlady—"Ah, you don't love butter?

Little Johnny Fizzletop has the habit of waking up every night and demanding something to eat. At last his mother said to him:—

"Look here, Johnny, I never want to eat anything in the night."

"Well, I don't think I'd care much to eat anything either in the night if I kept my teeth in a mug of water."—Texas Siftings.

There's a young doctor up-town who will have to improve his methods or he will never have patients enough to maintain him. A woman came in to see him only two days ago looking haggard and pale.

"Well," he said, "what is it?"

"I'm troubled with insomnia," she sighed. "What shall I do for it."

"Sleep it off, madame; sleep it off," he advised curtly and asked her for $2.—Detroit Free Press.

A Yale student recently handed in a paper to his professor and was surprised the next day to have it returned with a note scrawled on the margin. He studied it diligently, but was unable to decipher the note and so he brought his paper back to the professor.

"I can't quite make out what this is, if you please," said the student.

"That, sir," said the professor; "why, that says I can't read your handwriting." You write illegibly, sir."—Springfield Republican.

THE STRANGER'S FIELD.

A Singular Custom Among Some of the Natives of Africa.

"A stranger traveling in Africa with only two or three attendants can go about without much fear of molestation. A great armed body like the Stanley expedition will be obliged to fight at times, of course, but I never had any use at all for a weapon of any kind in Africa.

"There are some things that a solitary traveler can find out about Africa which a large expedition will never learn. I observed one custom that I never saw mentioned in any traveler's accounts. I noticed that every village had set apart a field for the use of strangers. The chief wife of the tribal king cultivated this field and stored away the product in the upper half of her hut. No man of the tribe was permitted to touch of the food thus stored. The king's wife had her share of this, and made her living out of it, but all over and above the amount actually consumed must be set apart and preserved. This field is known as the 'Stranger' field.

"Whenever a stranger comes to the village he makes known his want to the king and he is immediately relieved. The best hut in the village is set apart for him, he eats of the food of the stranger's field, and the best wife of the king prepares the food for him with her own hand. He remains a week or a month, or any reasonable length of time, and his time is never hastened. Sometimes he stays long enough to become a member of the tribe and he marries into the king's family.

An amusing feature of this custom is the fact that indigent members of the tribe sometimes leave their village and go to other villages and become strangers, so that very often when a familiar face has been missed from a certain village, and I have asked where so and so went or what became of him, some one has gravely informed me that so and so was poor and become a stranger. Subsequently I have run across lazy so and so in a distant village living on the fat of the land as a stranger and being treated to royal hospitality. There are no beggars in Africa. When a man or woman becomes too poor to get along comfortably, he or she makes the circuit of the adjacent villages as a stranger."—[Bishop Taylor, in Boston Globe.

Old Age Not a Matter of Years.

Every citizen of the world, growing wiser each year, believes that the flight of time should have no influence upon the heart, should not destroy vigor of health, and freshness of feeling, and should not mark a man as "old" simply by a standard of years. In spite of the rush and excitement caused by modern competition, there are many remarkable examples of active longevity. Old men of 84 years are seen taking tours in Europe. One old gentleman over 80 has just started for Michigan to enjoy the good skating of that region. Five people over 70 were found in a party of 22 upon an excursion to the Yosemite. Old people like Mr. Gladstone, Dr. Holmes, and Mr. Whittier, and others both in this country and in Europe are increasing the tendency among people of to-day to believe that old age is not a matter of years.

Our sanitary improvements, and the dissemination of ideas of hygiene have not only added to the average length of life, but have made those added years a period of enjoyment and of value to the community. According to the ideas exemplified by Mr. Gladstone, it is possible to measure quantity of work done equally with length of days, and to make old age count for more value than mere statistics for the census.

The Congo River Railroad.

The engineers who surveyed the route reported that it would not cost more than $5,000,000 to build and equip the line and pay interest on the capital invested during the four years required to build the road. The party, which spent many months navigating the upper Congo and its branches, found an abundance of natural resources in the way of ivory, india rubber, gums, dye stuffs, and other articles, besides flattering prospects that the coffee, cotton, and tobacco plantations would ultimately be profitable. Thus encouraged, the company decided to go forward with the railroad. They had no trouble about raising in Belgium and other countries the $5,000,000 required to build the road. Ocean steamers can easily reach Matadi, the starting point of the line, and already the first mile or two of the iron highway has been built, and the first locomotive has been sent to the Congo. It will require nearly three years to complete the road. When it is done, inner Africa will be within a few weeks of the capitals of Europe, and there is no doubt that in a few years more facilities for comfortable travel will be extended to those who wish to make a short visit to the once mysterious regions of inner Africa.—[Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine.

Suicide Increasing Among Negroes.

"I notice by the papers," said a former coroner, "that a world weary negro committed suicide on Christmas night by jumping from the bridge. This reminds me that suicides among negroes were entirely unknown until within the past few years. In 1878 the first case of a negro felo de se in the history of St. Louis came to my notice as a coroner. It was such a novelty as to attract widespread attention, and many newspapers claimed that it was the first case of its kind in the country. Be that as it may, it was but the forerunner of a half dozen cases in St. Louis, and the question is no longer asked, 'Who ever heard of a negro killing himself?' Perhaps, in the purely animal state, no one ever did, but as the negro in his free state has mingled with the white man he has acquired not only his vices, but his passions, fears, and prejudices as well."—[Globe Democrat.

The Leaves.

No leaf as yet! though like a wraith of snow
The white bell flowers have burst their sheathing green
And yielded to deep violets, and the sheen
Of those faint primroses that early strew
The garment of the earth. Verdure below,
But ne'er a budding leaf to come between
Our eyes and the blue ether, broadly seen
Through tracery of beeches, stretching low
From mighty rafter boughs—the sere brown eaves
Of woodland palaces, where rocking high
The solemn rook in sable chorus weaves
A twig into his nest, and yet more nigh
A wild bird sings of love among the leaves—
The leaves that are to be when spring is by.
—C. A. Dawson in Chambers' Journal.

Killed by a Captive Rattlesnake.

Alfred Duc, a Frenchman who has been living in a small cabin on the Schnell ranch, two miles north of Tia Juana, had a sort of fascination for snakes, and the reptiles appeared to realize that he was their especial friend. Neighbors tell that within the past few months he has never been known to be without one or more snakes in the cabin. Blacksnakes and copperheads made their home under his house, and he would stop on the field to caress a snake of any kind.

For about a week he has had a large rattler in the house, but as the reptile was not of the trustworthy family Duc made for it a housing place in an empty oil can. Since then he has been handling the snake at odd times, endeavoring to tame it into docility.

Sunday afternoon he had the snake out as usual, displaying it to a young man named Cresswell. He had it lying on his lap, his right hand closed loosely around the body just back of the head. It writhed about and finally freed its head. Then the reptile formed itself into a curl and like a flash of lightning buried its deadly fangs in the flesh of Duc's right hand. He appeared to think little about the matter and did not even bandage the wound. On Tuesday C. N. Flattery, of the San Diego Undertaking company, received a telephone message from Tia Juana saying, "Bring coffin (giving size) and come at once." The coffin was for Duc, and he died in horrible agony from the bite of the snake.—San Diego Sun.

New Zealand's Wild Horses.

"Aboard the ship that carried me from New Zealand to San Francisco were six thoroughbred New Zealand horses," remarked T. Harding McLaurin, a wealthy sheepgrower of that British possession, soon after he arrived at the Grand Pacific hotel. "And the owner expects to accomplish wonders with these animals. It is a strange thing to many that good horses should be bred in New Zealand. I dare say that when I get to England, and when I relate various matters, my friends will answer with a stare of incredulity. As a point of fact the vast plains to the north of my place—Otago—are the homes of great herds of wild horses that roam about as fearlessly as did the mustangs or broncos of your western plains.

"Are they better horses than the mustangs? Well, they are as far above the American article as the pure blooded Arabian is above an ordinary draught horse. They are large and well built, and there is no uniformity of color. They live upon the rich tassocks and peelie grass that abound on their once volcanic fields.

"The New Zealand wild horse is a hard one to break, but once brought under control he makes a magnificent driving or carriage animal. Cheap too. I have seen beautiful fourteen hand horses sold for fifteen pounds to be used for coaches. Breeding with imported stock produces a variety such as would be well adapted to America. Just now sheep raising is the great industry of the island, but I predict a great future for the horse trade."—Chicago News.

Strange and Fatal Accident.

A peculiar and fatal accident happened recently to a man named Dunham who lived in Kechi township, Sedgwick county, Kan. A farmer named Martin had killed a number of hogs, which he left hanging in his yard over night. In the morning one was gone, and in looking around for some trace which might reveal the cause of its disappearance, he noticed, a short distance from his house, something strange propped against a rail fence, and on investigating found his hog hanging by the gambrel stick around the neck of Dunham.

The thief's neck was broken, and he had evidently been dead some hours. The supposition is that while climbing the fence Dunham's burden had slipped and caught his head in the noose formed by the two legs and the cross stick, and the heavy weight had instantaneously cracked his neck.—Kansas City Star.

Jumped the Rails and Jumped Back Again

A peculiar accident happened recently on the local Omaha line. In going to the junction, and before reaching Hersey & Bean's mill, the passenger and smoking cars left the track, owing to a broken rail, ran some distance on the ties, struck a switch and regained the rails. The engine and tender had not left the rails.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

General Sherman, like George Bancroft, was very fond of young people. He liked to have them about him, and frequently treated them with more consideration than he did their elders. He was a thorough democrat in his relations with his fellowmen. He would talk with a laboring man as readily as with a millionaire.—Exchange.

Walter Miller, of Middleton, Conn., makes the strange boast that he has skinned more skunks this winter than any politician in the Nutmeg state. So far his record is forty-five skins. Mr. Miller states that the only drawback to the business is that he is compelled to live practically by himself.

The late Ben Ali Haggin's un-American name is said to have been bestowed upon him by his father out of regard for a pasha who once befriended him when he was a wanderer in foreign lands without money or friends. Now the copper king's wealth is estimated at $40,000,000.
